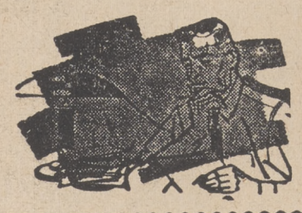
The DIMMER VIEW



by Max Goodwin

Your Town; Your Children

It's like watching an underground movie.

That's a fair description of Broadway in Lemon Grove after sundown on Fridays.

An underground movie is one in which available scenery instead of the props of Hollywood is used.

In this case the players are teen-aged youngsters — our children and Broadway is the scene.

A score or more parked cars are filled, in varying degrees, with youngsters most Fridays.

One youth, with long dirty-blond hair shuttles between cars to a beer retailer. He's the "good guy." He obtains illicitly sold alcoholic beverages because he looks older. He hands the package to the occupants of the car. It hurriedly pulls away. Another car soon fills the parking space. Eventually "good guy" gets back to the newly arrived but not until he has procured alcoholic beverages for several others.

"Good guy" has a reputation as a drug abuser. He has been "busted" several times. He is psychologically handicapped so county welfare department pays him $145 a month in taxpayers' money. But he's friendly and shows his friendship by obtaining potables for youngsters who look their tender age. They know the dealer would probably refuse to sell his wares to a 16-year older. But "good guy" is with his peers. Together they form a cult whose friendships are based on the procurement of alcoholic drinks, pot, dangerous drugs and dangerous substances.

Meanwhile, several youth are trying to instruct another youngster how to ride a motorcycle. The rider appears to be "high". He staggers when the lesson is over. Another youth, probably the owner of the bike, gives a demonstration. He roars off, headlight blazing, against the traffic in the parking strip along Broadway

A well-dressed youth who appears to be about 18 emerges from an off-sales shop. He clutches a bag which makes a clinking sound as he puts it in his high-powered sports car. The car holds another boy and two girls. He, too, roars off by expertly executing a looping U-turn on Broadway. If the bottles contain beer, will he still be the expert driver an hour from now we wondered.

In a restaurant entrance is a teen-age couple in fond embrace. Her parents would not have been proud of her public romance. His eyes do not focus. He is "high". She is asking him for $1.30. No alcohol can be smelled. It is safe to assume that his "high" is a drug substance. A few minutes later the couple goes into the restaurant and places a "take-out" order. That is what the money was for. His head weaves back and forth as he sits waiting for their order. He staggers as they walk out with it.

Outside, the "friendly one" is still accommodating newly arrived youngsters who want bottled beverages.

A clutch of youngsters are now standing in the driving lane of the parking area. One tells something and they all laugh hilariously.

An adult motorist needs the lane where the youngsters are standing. They give no indication of moving. He taps his horn. One good-looking youngster finally steps aside giving the motorist just enough room to make his exit. The youngster gives him "the finger" as he passes. They bunch again and the hilarity takes up where it left off.

Three Highway Patrol cars pass during the 6:30-8 p.m. period. So do two Sheriff's prowl cars. None of them stops.

A week earlier a Broadway restaurateur complained that he closes his business earlier on Friday night because youngsters congregate and become rowdy. This stops his after-dark clientele, he says.

An apartment dweller whose upstairs bedroom window faces Broadway said that youngsters park on the street below discussing their sex conquests so loudly and with so much laughter that sleep is impossible until they drive away — possibly on another conquest.

This is the condition that exists in Lemon Grove! Not somewhere else and not a couple of years ago but right here and now — and nearly every week.

Harrassing these youngsters away is no solution to the obvious problems. They simply move their activities to another community.

An editor of a small town newspaper gets to know many of his readers. This editor can assure these readers that youngsters of at least three of his subscribers were involved in Friday night's Broadway activities.

One of this youth group told this editor that he would stop being part of this activity if his peer group would let him. "But they just keep leaning on me to take part," he said. "If I could go somewhere else where nobody knows me I could stay out of trouble," he added.

What a shame!

An editor can be more objective than parents of the law-breaking child but it is harder when he knows the family.

The kids aren't his. They're yours. You've got to do something.

But as it is with many suffering parents the editor joins in crying: "My God, what can we do?"

Father's Day Treat

It is only a rumor, as they saying goes. But we were informed that Lemon Grove's "completely nude dancers" saloon would be open an extra hour Saturday night in celebration of Fathers' Day.

Stamp Issue Publicized Possible Condor Extinction

Only 50 to 60 real California Condors are still alive — so a new U. S. stamp is being issued to lend them a hand Postmaster Frenchy Faucher announced.

Coupled with this Postal Service action will be a Statewide condor protection drive under the theme, "Let them live — Let them alone".

This plea for the survival of California's few remaining condors will keynote local ceremonies, here and throughout the State, as the 8c Condor Commemorative starts carrying mail across the U.S. this week.

The stamp shows the giant bird in full flight.

The Postmaster said that agencies cooperating in the condor survival program include the California Academy of Sciences, the State Board of Education, the Department of the Interior, the California Fish and Game Department and the U. S. Forest Service.

CLUB CHEMICALS — Cecile Helm, an employee of Club Chemical Company, bottles carpet cleaner at the local company. The firm, located at 3570 Olive st., Lemon Grove, manufactures chemicals for home and industrial use.

Local Chemical Company Handles Non-Pollutants

Club Chemical Company, which deals in the manufacturing of cleaning products for commercial and home use, has been located in Lemon Grove for nearly a year.

The firm, started in January of 1970, moved to Lemon Grove in August of that year, and since that time has grown to the point that the company sells only to wholesale distributors.

Leo G. Rainville, founder and owner of Club Chemicals, said that there is a full time distributor in Yuma Arizona, and another is due to open in Las Vegas, Nevada, next week. Commercial and industrial products are being distributed through janitorial supply companies all over the county.

The firm deals in five products for retail sales: a carpet shampoo, a wood cleaner, an odor killer, a spot remover, and an all purpose cleaner.

The carpet shampoo, all purpose cleaner, and odor killer are all biodegradable, Rainville said. The odor killer and the spotter were also awarded the Pet Pride Seal of Approval.

In keeping with today's concern for the environment, Rainville said, the company pays three cents for the return of plastic bottles used as containers, no matter what their condition. Many of the bottles can be re-used, he said.

Retail products can be found in several different locations in Lemon Grove. La Pluma Pet Shop, on Broadway stocks the products, as well as Alamo Vacuum and Sewing and United Rental.

Rainville said that the company's goal is to "sell a superior product at a reasonable price, with a guarantee that the product will do exactly what the label claims." He added that much of the company's progress to date has been based on referrals of satisfied customers.

"By this time next year we hope to have our products distributed throughout the entire country as well as in Canada and Mexico," he said.

L.G. School District Hires Eldon Meyer

The Lemon Grove School District Board of Trustees held a lengthy business meeting Monday night, approving many routine items, hashing over the budget for next year, and discussing and approving pay hikes and reclassification of certificated and classified employees.

Trustees met in executive session shortly after the meeting opened to consider candidates to serve as interim principal at Monterey Heights Elementary School next year while William A. Thomas, who has served as principal there for 20 years, takes a sabbatical leave.

Eldon Meyer, former superintendent of the Jamul-Las Flores School District, was named to the post. Five other candidates were considered for the $15,000 position.

Meyer served with Jamul-Las Flores since 1966, but resigned the position last December after a dispute with the board over a multiple-year contract.

The Lemon Grove District position will be for one year only.

Among routine items considered and approved by the board were: application for funds in the amount of $25,160 for operation of the district's pre-school program, the renewal of a lease agreement with the Lemon Grove Lutheran Church for the same program, a $10,000 increase in application for ESEA Title I funds, bylaws for a parent advisory committee for the ESEA Title I program, and a student accident insurance program.

The board heard reports on planned residential developments which would affect the district. Regarding the Imperial 80 development, the board learned that the San Diego Planning Commission has requested the number of units in the development to be reduced and requested the district and the developers to reach an agreement on how City Policy No. 600-10 will be met.

According to City Policy No. 600-10, developers of a subdivision are required to provide facilities for young-

Still 54 Cents Higher!

Sups. Trim Budget; $12 Million Cut Off

SAN DIEGO (CNA) — Chief County Administration Fred J. Morey did not have one of his better days on Monday.

He had recommended budget reductions of $11,691,805 which would ease the local property tax burden by $6,273,937, or about 21.3 cents per $100 of assessed valuation on the tax rate.

This, however, leaves a probable tax increase of 54.7 cents over this year's tax of $2.74.

The gave the Board of Supervisors a list of priority reduction that would further reduce the tax rate to only a 23.7 cent increase, but did not recommend these further cuts.

With more than a little asperity, Morey said that the county budget is not padded, but a realistic estimate of what the county will need to do business during Fiscal Year 1971-72.

He said that, for years, county department heads have been instructed to request the amount of money they actually need, rather than submitting figures that would lead to easy cuts by himself and the Board of Supervisors.

His mood was probably not helped by a letter sent to the board by Second District Supervisor Henry A. Boney.

It read, in part, "My office has distributed copies of the proposed budget to individuals and organizations in the second district and the response has been unanimous—everyone thinks the county budget is inflated, padded and needs to be cut substantially."

A cut of nearly $12 million in a budget of over $306 million is not particularly substantial in percentage and the supervisors will have their own chisels out when the budget hearings resume today. Friday has also been reserved and the board might even go into a Saturday session.

LG Youth Center Is Explained

Members of the board of directors of the Lemon Grove Youth Center held a luncheon meeting last Thursday noon at the El Amigo Restaurant.

The purpose of the meeting was to introduce Grant Underhill, director of the project, and explain progress at the center since it opened last month.

Underhill, who attended college in Ohio, first came to the San Diego area last winter, when he worked with several organizations in the social service area before returning to school.

He returned to this area in March, and was hired as director of the Kiwanis-spearheaded program six weeks ago.

Len Farness, of the Kiwanis Club, said that the project was underwritten by the club — that is, the project was assured of funds by the club. Most of the funding of the center is through private individuals and local service clubs who contribute money, materials, and work.

Farness went on to say that the biggest contributors so far were the Lemon Grove Soroptimists and several private individuals. He said that a "pledge card" system was ready to go into operation soon.

Underhill explained the aims of the center. The main motivation to start the youth center was a lack of things to do for local youngsters, he said.

The center is available only to youngsters who have graduated from the sixth grade and are not yet 16 years old. Underhill said that this was because junior high age youngsters are more limited in the things they can do. He added that youngsters over 16 often have automobiles.

He said the functions of the center is to provide a place where youngsters can "drop in", to provide education in drug abuse, to offer counseling, and to refer those with problems to agencies that can be of help.

The center is operated on the "no bust" principal, with the approval of the San Diego County Sheriff's Office.

Included in the program are recreation and field trips, such as ping pong, billiards, arts and crafts, and trips to such places as Torrey Pines States Park.

The center is also the location of monthly dances, with the next scheduled dance to be held tomorrow night.

It was explained that the dances are offered free, although a 25 cents donation is accepted from those youngsters who can afford to pay. Another rule at dances is that each youngster can be admitted only once during the course of the evening, so if he leaves, he can't come back.

Underhill said that he hopes a basketball team can be organized with the team playing teams from other youth centers.

The center is open Tuesday

Donations thus far have been received from the La Mesa Rotary Club, La Mesa Lions Club, La Mesa Board of Realtors, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Drew, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Louis.

The display, which will begin at 9 p.m., is a special effort to encourage patriotism and unity among all Americans, according to Richard Cosgriff, chairman of the committee.

Contributions may be sent to the Heartland Fireworks Fund, P.O. Box 235, La Mesa, 92041, or left at the La Mesa Chamber of Commerce, 8155 University ave.

Two Arrested In S.V. For Drugs, 'Pot'

Two young men from El Cajon were arrested in Spring Valley last week on charges of possession of restricted dangerous drugs and possession of marijuana.

According to reports from the Sheriff's Department, the two suspects were seen leaving the Douglas Service Station at 10003 Campo rd., which was closed at the time.

Helm got out of the vehicle and walked back to make contact with the deputies, stating that his father owned the sta-

Another in the series of annual Fourth of July picnics will be held this year at the Green Spot Park, Alton and Washington.

Picnic festivities will get underway this year at 10 a.m. and continue until 6 p.m.

During these hours there will be music, refreshments, entertainment, door prizes and games for kids. Admission is free.

Families should bring their own picnic lunches, Tonner said. Beer and soft drinks will be available.

Many valuable door prizes will be given away. These tickets are available from Al Woods, at Bank of America; Frank Shughrue at 1st. National; Dr. Jerry Legerton's office; Attorney Jim Dorman's office; from Sam's Beer Bar; Sunkist Inn, and VFW Hall, all in Lemon Grove.

Last year a great many funseekers crowded the park with nearly everyone agreeing that it was a good way to spend the holiday.

The picnic is sponsored by the Lemon Grove Old Time Days Association and it is in appreciation for the community's effort on the Old Time Days Parade which is held in May each year.

The parade event is growing each year with a record number of units in the parade just past according to Bob Mastny, parade chairman.

Turnbull Breaks Portland Record

Record breaking attendance at the annual city-wide "Spring Youth Offensive" in Portland will result in a return engagement for a Lemon Grove minister.

Robert Turnbull, the Chaplain of Waikiki, conducted the program for the Portland Youth for Christ organization.

Turnbull, son of Drs. Amorita Treganza and Lloyd Adams, is a former teevee and movie performer who embraced religion while approaching the zenith of his acting career.

His work with young people in Hawaii induced him to set up headquarters on Waikiki Beach where youngsters congregated — thus earning him the title he bears.

Guideline Is County-Wide Referral Service Center

If you live in San Diego County and you have a problem — any kind of problem that you can't seem to resolve, there's one place you should know about.

It's GuideLine, the county-wide information and referral center, opened a year ago by United Community Services and funded by the United Crusade.

GuideLine is a free, confidential service which provides information about legal, health, financial, housing, recreation and social services offered by both private and public agencies.

Although it's located at 1194 Broadway in downtown San Diego, GuideLine is set up to serve any county resident quickly, accurately, and by phone.

In most areas of the county, the GuideLine number is 238-1111.

"First of all," said David Cueny, GuideLine Senior Counselor, "we recognized that although there were a number of existing information agencies — places where people could get answers and direction — none of them were set up to serve all of San Diego County.

"While these agencies had geographic limits, even more important were their cultural restrictions which kept some people from going for help to places they considered too 'straight' or too 'hip'.

"We envisioned GuideLine", he continued, "as a place where minority group members, young people, non-establishment types could get answers to their questions without feeling uncomfortable or defensive.

"Our second purpose was to build up a comprehensive file of community resources so that people who needed to know who provided what, could call us and get the right information in a minimum amount of time."

A native of Grand Rapids, Michigan, Cueny received his BA from the University of Florida and a Masters in Counseling and Psychology from California Polytechnic College in San Luis Obispo. He formerly taught in Santa Maria, Calif. and came to San Diego in 1968.

Mrs. Maria Erickson, assistant counselor, has had previous experience working with minority groups with the Economic Opportunity Commission, the Sweetwater Union High School District and with the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission.

Both Cueny and Mrs. Erickson, as well as clerical and some volunteer staff members, are fluent in both English and Spanish.

"We don't attempt to provide any long-term individual counseling", Cueny said, "nor do we give direct services — medical aid, legal advice, food, transportation, or money.

"If we did, we'd be duplicating the programs of private and public agencies far better prepared to render these services.

"We do try to counsel people in crisis until they are able to identify their problems, or until we can help them get in touch with one of the agencies set up to do counseling.

One of the first jobs a GuideLine counselor must do, Cueny said is to find out what a caller really needs, what the problem is.

"We'll get calls from people asking for money when what they actually need is food or a job or medical advice", Cueny said.

In cooperation with the Data Processing Department of United Community Services, GuideLine developed a system of recording, storing and arranging detailed information about services. From key punched cards, the agency's staff is able to prepare, maintain and draw upon vast amounts of information.

Learn Spanish the Easy Way

Hardison's Telespanish

By JAMES HARDISON

Some of the restaurants in the Old Town section of San Diego have menus with Spanish-named foods. Would you please explain some of these, especially "chiles rellenos," "nieve," "flan," "frijoles refritos," and "guacamole."

Old Town San Diego preserves much of the Spanish heritage. It is always a pleasure to order and eat their Spanish-named foods.

"Chiles rellenos" are a popular selection. "Rellenos" is taken from the verb "rellenar" which means "to refill." Thus "chiles rellenos" are refilled chiles. There are generally two types of "chiles rellenos." One type is called "relleno con picadillo" (refilled with ground meat) and the other is "relleno con queso" (refilled with cheese).

"Frijoles refritos," pronounced "free-HOH-lehs reh-FREE-tohs," means "refried beans." This is a popular selection and is served with most Mexican plates. Also "guacamole" (avocado dip) is very popular and consists of "aguacate" (avocado), "cebolla" (onion), and "jitomate" (tomato).

"Nieve" literally means "snow." It appears on menus in an idiomatically determined form to mean "ice cream." Thus we might say "nieve de vainilla" for "vanila ice cream," or we may wish to say "nieve de chololate" (chocolate ice cream) or even "nieve de fresa" (strawberry ice cream).

"Flan" is a popular dessert. It would be most literally translated as "custard." It is usually prepared of egg yokes and milk. When it is generally served, it is topped with a caramel.

Practice phrases listed below contain some of the Spanish-named items that appear on the menus for restaurants in Old Town San Diego. You may wish to learn how to say them with the aid of the phonetic guide or you may wish to hear them said with the recorded voice on your phone, 276-2762.

IMPORTANT PHRASES:

Say "Que ricos chiles rellenos." (keh REE-kohs chee-lehs reh-YEH-nohs)
for 'What delicious refilled chiles."

Say "Tienen queso." (tee-EH-nehn KEH-soh)
for "They have cheese."

Say "Le gustan frijoles refritos?" (leh GOOS-tahn free-HOH-lehs reh-FREE-tohs) for "Do you like refried beans?"

Say "Me gustan mucho." (meh GOOS-tahn MOO-choh) for "I like them a lot."

Say "Que clase de nieve es?" (keh KLAH-seh deh nee-EH-veh ehs) for "What kind of ice cream is it?"

Say "Es nieve de fresa." (ehs nee-EH-veh deh FREH-sah) for "It is strawberry ice cream.

Girl Scouts to Round Up Lost Kids at S.D. Fair

For the eleventh year Goodwill Industries of San Diego County, in cooperation with the Girl Scouts, will play the key role in helping to re-unite lost children with their parents at the 1971 Southern California Exposition at Del Mar. According to Allen J. Sutherland, Goodwill President, Goodwill Industries will set up at the main entrance a special "Good Willy" booth, so named after the now well-known character created for Goodwill Industries by Milton Caniff, famed cartoonist.

Mrs. Jean Kelley, Girl Scout co-ordinator for the project, reports that 30 junior and senior girl scouts, working in shifts, will man the booth for each of the Fair's 12 days. This means a total og 360 girl scouts will volunteer time and effort daily from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. With parents consent, the girls attach "Good Willy" I.D. tags on youngsters which read: "If my parents get lost, take me to the first aid station". At that point, Fair management takes over and usually locates parents in short order.

Israel will build a new Jewish city at Sharm el Sheikh.

OPERATOR — Jeurgen Peutter, left, a foreign exchange student from Germany who studied at Mount Miguel High School this year, adjusts short wave radio equipment at the school, with the help of electronics instructor Larry Landon. Peutter, who own a short wave set in Germany, repaired some old equipment at Mt. Miguel and built it into a transceiver. He hopes his work will lead to a radio club at the local school next year.

Exchange Student Fixes Up Mt. Miguel High School Radio

By Karen Maguire

"This is Delta Charlie Nine India Tango, portable W6 calling CQ . . . CQ . . . CQ," may not sound like much, but to Jeurgen Peutter, Mount Miguel High School's foreign exchange student from Germany, they are words that come after many hours of planning, checking, repairing, constructing, and double checking equipment for a radio station for Mount Miguel.

The station, founded and maintained by Jeurgen and Larry Landon, electronics teacher, is a unique and interesting arrangement of equipment several years old.

Jeurgen, learning that an AM transmitter, single side band transceiver, and helicrafter at the school were not being used, went about repairing, testing and working on the equipment so it could send and receive calls from countries all over the world.

After succeeding in the resurrection of the once defunct equipment, Peutter went on to acquire an antenna, relays, a microphone, and feed lines for his station. The cost of the entire operation, after the repairing and buying of equipment, was approxmiately $160.

Then, in April, Jeurgen started broadcasting. "It took four hours of calling CQ — an international code for "come in" — before I picked up a strong signal from W6AAG in Lemon Grove," explained the young German.

"Directly after the call from Lemon Grove, there was another station calling — W-6AHE from San Diego. We had a nice QSO — abbreviation for radio contact — and after he cleared the frequency, there was W5RFQ from San Antonio, Texas calling me."

Peutter, who keeps a log of all the calls received, has a record of 120 conversations with people from Wisconsin, New York, Illinois, Tennessee, and Pennsylvania. His foreign contacts include places such as Japan, Alaska, Canada, and Paraguay.

Jeurgen also has high hopes of reaching Germany before leaving the United States. At the present time, his father is taking care of his equipment at home.

Being the only qualified and licensed person at Mount Miguel, Jeurgen has spent several hours during the night and day operating the station. He is hopeful that his efforts will be seen in the forming of a radio club at the school.

"This radio club will help newcomers get an FCC license and old-timers to improve their ability of making good transmissions. This club, as well as the radio station itself, is going to add a new and exciting activity to Mount Miguel's program," he said.

Miguel ROTC Cadets Attend Awards Ceremony

The Mt. Miguel Jr. ROTC held its final awards ceremony for the school year June 4.

Various awards were given to those cadets who worked the entire year for the cause of the program. Each cadet received at least one ribbon for his performance.

Many different ribbons were awarded at this year's ceremony, among them, the Color Guards, Drill Team, Parade, Service and I.G. Ribbons. Those who were to receive the ribbon a second time were awarded a Numeral 2. M. C. Grant, principal, awarded the ribbons and medals.

This year a new award was introduced; the Superior Cadet Award was given to only four cadets who surpassed normal expectations: Robert Cook, Art Palmer, Mike Fitz, and Mark Wynn.

Breaking tradition, the drill team gave an exceptional performance this year. Drill Team Commander for 1970-'71 was John Schnurro.

The awards ceremony was a 1970-'71. During the year the program has worked for the good of the school, according to Col. Don Gray, advisor.

"I think the cadets have done a fine job all year long, from the Vietnam gift pac to the parades we have participated in," Robert Cook, company commander, said.

"Mt. Miguel Jr. ROTC Cadets have distinguished themselves as one of the finest units in the Sixth Army, which consists of the 12 western states, and to achieve such a distinction suggests a dedication to accomplishment for beyond the normal requirements," Grant said.

"We are very proud of the honored cadets as well as all the people in the ranks who have honored the ROTC program at Mt. Miguel as the members in the Corps," he added.

BACK SAFELY — Debbie Sullivan of the Quota Club Migets, gets back to second base in time to avoid the tag of Leah Cruz, second baseman for the Lions Club Lionettes in last week's Lemon Grove Bobby Sox League action. The Lionettes won the game to move into second place in the second-half season standings. The Migets won two other games last week to keep third place.

Angelettes Drop First Game Of Second Half

The "Cinderella team" of the Lemon Grove Bobby Sox League heard the first chimes of midnight strike last week, as the team lost its first game of the second-half season.

The Lemon Grove Boosters Club Angelettes, the winners of four straight games following a dismal fifth place finish in the first-half season, dropped a 9-8 decision to the Skyline TV Gremlins.

In the game, Lydia Ledesma took the mound for the Angelettes, opposed by sister Julia Ledesma for the Gremlins. After five and a half innings, the Angelettes were in command, boasting a 7-4 lead.

In the sixth frame, however, the Gremlins exploded for four runs to grab the lead, 8-7. In the top of the seventh, the Angelettes struggled back to tie the game.

In the last of the seventh, canterfielder Monica Way blasted a two-out, bases-loaded single to bring in the winning run.

In other action last week, the Angelettes bested the Severin Realty Orioles, 11-9, helped by a five-run fifth inning, and outscored the Associated Engineers Swingers, 31-8.

The second-place Lemon Grove Lions Club Lionettes kept pace with the leaders by taking a pair of games, 11-8 over the Quota Club Migets, and 9-8 over the Gremlins.

The Migets, meanwhile, won both of their other games to take third place. Debbie Sullivan tossed a shutout over the Orioles, and the Migets had little trouble with the Swingers, claiming a 16-4 decision.

In the minor league, the Nalco Plumbing Pipers grabbed a share in the league lead by winning three games, including a 15-4 victory over the first-half season champs Catholic Daughters Cherubs.

The IAM Local Lodge 2215 Emeralds, in first place last week, took two games but lost a third, dropping them into a tie with the Pipers.

Rockets Get Gibbs From Chicago Bulls

The rights to Dick Gibbs, 3rd round draft choice of the Chicago Bulls in the 1971 college draft, have been traded to the San Diego Rockets for an undisclosed future draft choice.

Gibbs was signed June 12 by Rockets general manager Pete Newell. Terms of the signing were not announced.

Gibbs, a 6-6, 205 pounder from the University of Texas at El Paso, played his college ball at the forward position and last year was the Miners leading scorer averaging over 18 points a game.

A two year varsity letterman, Gibbs led the Miners in rebounding for two consecutive seasons. He averaged eight rebounds a contest as a junior and pulled down 10 boards a game in his senior year.

A native of Ames, Iowa, Gibbs spent two years in junior college ball in Burlington, Iowa, before going to El Paso. He was the leading rebounder there for two season and played along side of Fred Brown, the recent number one draft pick of the Seattle SuperSonics.

In making the announcement, general manager Pete Newell said that Gibbs "has a good outside shot and is considered a very strong defensive player."

"In a slow down offense, he still was able to average 18 points a game."

Gibbs was a first team All-Conference selection in the Western Athletic Conference. Joining him on that same All-Conference team was guard Mike Newlin of Utah, the Rockets second round draft choice.

Gibbs, the El Paso team captain last year, majored in lieral arts.

Dodgers Grab Loop Lead As Season's End Looms

The pendulum swung the other way in the Lemon Grove Little League race for the pennant when Walker Scott dropped a replay of an earlier tie game to White Construction, enabling the Dodgers to move into undisputed possession of first place.

The Dodgers won both their games of the week, getting by Lemon Grove Lath and Plaster, 2-1, and handing Food Basket a 9-0 loss. Walker Scott beat Imperial Meats, 7-2, and topped White Construction, 5-3, to keep pace a half game back of the leaders.

The Dodgers have first place with a 13-2 record, while Walker Scott is second with 13-3. Mission Van and Storage is third with a 9-7 mark, a half game better than fourth place Murphy Plumbing, 8-7.

With just two weeks left on the season, the Dodgers move into the role of favorites. The team also has a replay of an earlier tie game on its schedule.

Tom Bolen twirled a three-hitter and fanned ten in the first Dodger triumph while Butch Cushman chimed in with a pair of singles. Teammate Chris Flores surrendered This means a total of 360 out over Food Basket and Cushman had three more hits to give him five for the week.

Walker Scott hurler Mark Foster walked none and fanned 10 in his effort against Imperial Meats. John Barrow had three doubles and Bobby Schneider a home run and a double to pace the offense.

In the second contest, Barrow took to the mound and got a homer from Foster and two doubles from Schneider to aid him. Robert Tiumalu was able to solve Barrow for a single, double and two-run circuit rap.

Mission Storage was edged in a 10-7 slugfest by Murphy Plumbing but rebounded for a 7-6 squeaker over Imperial Meats. Murphy Plumbing won it on league leader Craig Leonetti's seventh four-bagger of the campaign and another by Mike Neagle.

Mission's nod over Imperial Meats found Glenn Nye, Mike Sperla and Ray Cox sharing hill chores with Nye and Mike Wilson both going two-for-three at the plate.

White Construction pitcher John Young was in excellent form as he spun a three-hit 4-0 shutout over Food Basket that included 11 strikeouts. It was the fourth consecutive game in which Food Basket has failed to score.

The week's final match was a 5-2 Murphy Plumbing decision over Lemon Grove Plaster. Brad Sanders belted a homer and single in a losing cause with Tom Castellanos cracking a pair of hits for Murphy.

Wards Wins Pair, Keeps Pony Lead

Montgomery Ward won two games last week to remain on top of the standings in the Spring Valley Pony League, one game ahead of second place Big Bear Market, also winner of two contests.

In the first game of the week, Ward's knocked off Farmer's Center, 8-3, on the strength of Al Salazar's bat. Salazar belted his fourth home run of the season, giving him the league lead in that department.

Salazar was at it again in Ward's second game of the week, combining with Mike Kennedy to toss a no-hit shutout. Duane Schummer carried the big bat in that game, driving in the game's only run with a triple to give Ward's the 1-0 nod over Golden Bowl.

Big Bear Market, after dropping two of its three games last week to grab the cellar spot, jumped into second place with victories over Golden Bowl and State Farm Insurance.

Rick Tooze was the hero in the Big Bear-Golden Bowl contest, as he went the distance, gave up no runs, and struck out 10 Golden Bowl batters. John Campbell tripled for the winners.

In its second game, Big Bear had little trouble bouncing State Farm Insurance, 7-4. John Cavoalas belted a three-bagger for Big Bear in that game.

In the only other game of the week, State Farm Insurance blasted Golden Bowl, 11-3. Richard Boring picked up three hits in four trips to the platter for the winners, while Dick Lang belted three safeties and the same number of trips in a losing cause.

Woman's Club Belts O'Dell

Spring Valley Woman's Club moved back into first place last week in Spring Valley Bobby Sox League action with a 14-7 win over O'Dell Realty, dropping O'Dell to second place.

Optimist Club, meanwhile, upset Norm's Gulf, 18-9, to move into a tie with Norm's for third place. Optimist also dropped a 14-11 decision to O'Dell.

Galbreath Realty moved into fifth place with a 17-11 win over Foster's Freeze/Thomas Disposal.

In the minor league, Delp Plastetring continued it's winning ways with a 32-11 shellacking of San Diego Sand blasting. Swinging a big bat for Delp were Barb Smith and Donna Simmons, who both hit grand slams.

Coastal Rigging moved into a tie with Broyles and Shafer/Sportland by smothering Sandblasting, 32-16, while Broyles/Sportland dropped a close one, 12-11, to Pat Riley/SCFNB.

Miguel Water Polo Great To Aid Team Next Year

Mount Miguel High School will not lose its most valuable water polo player next year, even though he will graduate tonight.

Lincoln Szuch, the blonde four-year letterman of water polo and swimming, will pursue his studies at Grossmont

Linc Szuch

College, but will help out the Mount Miguel team as an assistant coach, according to Roger Moreau, water polo coach.

Szuch's experience with water goes back quite far. He made his first splashes resembling swimming when he was eight years old, but it was only a year later that he started swimming competitively in local AAU tournaments.

Szuch made his biggest discovery in the water world when Mt. Miguel formed its first water polo team, when "Linc" was a freshman.

"I was going out for football, but then I heard they were forming a water polo team so I went to the meeting. Since I had a lot of hours in the pool, I decided to join," he said.

The decision apparently was a good one for the 6-foot, 170-pound "aqua nut", as he collected eight varsity letters, a pair of All-Grossmont League first team selections for swimming, and was twice named to the All-San Diego Section CIF water polo squad.

His highest honor as a water polo player was bestowed upon him recently when he learned that he was named to the All-American High School Water Polo Team for 1970-71.

THREE-TIMER — Jim Hitt, of Lemon Grove, removes his helmet following his third main event win of the year at Cajon Speedway last Saturday night. Hitt, who is in first place in the points standings at the track, took the lead on the 20th lap of the 30-lap feature race and held on for the win.

Arnold and Company Sneaks By Second Place Luigi's Restaurant

Luigi's Restaurant, tops in the Spring Valley Little League since the first game of the season, found itself in an unusual position last week: second place.

Russ Palser, a candidate for the league's top athlete, started on the mound for Luigi's, tossing three innings of hitless ball. Steve Haney came in to pitch in the fourth inning, and gave up four hits and three runs to absorb the loss.

Palser, meanwhile, drove in all of Luigi's runs with a home run with a man on. Palser's heroics weren't enough, however, as Arnold & Co. got credit for the upset win, 3-2.

The two teams met again later in the week, with Haney handling the pitching chores, tossing a three hitter enroute to the 5-2 victory. Palser again carried the big bat, swatting a pair of home runs.

S & H One Hour Martinizing quietly moved into first place with a couple of wins over Spring Valley Shopping Center. In the first game, Mike Delia tripled in the bottom of the seventh and came home on a pass ball to score the winning run. Vernon Cramer got the win, 2-1.

In the second game, the two teams battled for eight innings before Martinizing won it, 10-9. Vernon Cramer came in in relief of Ricky Stewart in the top of the seventh to snuff out a Shopping Center rally, bringing the score to 6-6 after regulation play.

In the extra frame, Cramer was touched for four bases on balls and three runs, and the game appeared to swing toward Shopping Center. In the bottom of the frame, however, Martinizing broke loose for five hits and four runs to collect a 10-9 victory.

In other action, Al's Electric swept a pair from Jackson Supply, 6-2 and 7-4, and Kelton Homes won its first two games of the year, sweeping from Spring Valley Kiwanis.

In the intermediate league, Mary Browne Realtor, Cecil's Hancock, and North Island Test Line all grabbed a share of the second-half season lead with 2-1 marks.

In games played last week, Mary Browne beat Cecil's, 7-3, but lost to Art's Lumber. North Island Test Line beat Art's, but lost to Oscar's Drive In, 6-5. Cecil's blasted Colorama TV, 18-2. In the only other game played, Colorama TV beat Oscar's 10-4.

In the minor league, Jim Niccoll Racing shocked Tea Pot Inn, beating the team 7-4 and 6-4 to claim first place in the first week of the second-half season.

Tied with Nicoll for the top spot are Moose Lodge and SV Post Office. All three teams have 2-0 records.

Monte Vista Coach To Handle All Star Team

Pete Colonelli and Fritz Ziengenfuss, former teammates at San Diego State and two of the finest young coaches in Southern California, have been named opposing coaches for the fourth annual City-County College-Prep All-Star basketball game which is co-sponsored by the Breitbard Athletic Foundation and the San Diego City and County Basketball Coaches Association.

Ziegenfuss will coach the City team, Colonelli the County for the August 6 contest scheduled for 8:30 p.m. at San Diego State's Peterson Gym. It will be preceded by the Pepsi-Cola Summer League's playoff finals at 7 p.m.

Colonelli, who coached Monte Vista High to the California Interscholastic Federation's San Diego Section championship last season, will select his all-stars squad from the Grossmont, Metropolitan, Avocado and Southern league stars.

Ziegenfuss, the head basketball coach at Patrick Henry High, will draw upon the top graduated seniors from the Eastern and Western League schools in hopes of breaking the two-game County winning streak.

Colonelli, 29, was an All-City Prep League guard at Lincoln. After graduating from San Diego State in 1965, he became junior varsity basketball coach at Morse and directed such All-San Diego CIF stars as Monroe Nash, Cedric Reed and Avery Clark.

In 1969, Pete was named the head coach at San Diego High and his one season record was 13-11.

He was named the head coach at Monte Vista in 1970 and during his first season led the Monarchs to one of the most successful campaigns an area school has had. Monte Vista's final 1970-71 season record of 29-2 included championships in the Kiwanis and Newport Harbor Optimist tournaments, the Grossmont League and San Diego CIF title.

Hitt Grabs Third Cajon Track Main

Lemon Grove leadfoot Jim Hitt became Cajon Speedway's three-time main event winner last Saturday night after he came from the twelfth starting position to take the 30-lap feature race.

The win for the local driver allowed "Gentleman Jim" to swell his point leading total to 1705, nearly 500 points better than second place Richard White.

Weaving his way through traffic, Hitt moved into the lead on the 20th lap following a battle with Jerry Osborn, who had led from the fourth round.

A full slate of cars is planned for this Saturday night with Hitt expected to square off against the likes of two-time winner Pat McIntyre, of Spring Valley, as well as Jim Osborne, of Brookeside, and Russ Bullen, of Bonita.

Officials at the track this week announced that three special 50-lap main events are scheduled for the remainder of the season.

The first of the special races will be held July 3, with a special price for juniors aged 12-16, who will be admitted for $1.50. Joy Swentkofske will lead a barrage of women drivers this weekend for the fourth running of the "Powder Puff Derby".

PLAY IT AGAIN — Wayne Smith plays the leading role of a young man whose inhibitions and insecurities prevent him from pursuing female companionship in the latest Woody Allen comedy hit "Play It Again, Sam" opening Tuesday at the Cassius Carter Centre Stage, adjacent to the Old Globe Theatre in Balboa Park, San Diego.

A photo essay of work produced by beginning students enrolled in Grossmont College's photography class has gone on sale in the college's bookstore. Titled "Exposure to Visual Awarness," the book, with over 100 photographs exposed and processed by the beginning students, was edited and arranged by Charles E. Fridenmaker, instructor of photography.

In his introduction to the book, Fridenmaker wrote, "The idea for such a publication originated from the students themselves. Obviously, one reason for their enthusiasm was the desire to share their best efforts with others; but primarily they indicated that it would have been advantageous as they progressed with their semester's work to utilize a book of beginner's photographs as a type of gauge to what a novice in the field can be accomplishing.

"Published matreials available to the student starting in a new medium for the most part contain the work of photographers who have established their reputations professionally and artistically. "Exposure to Visual Awareness" is certainly not intended as a replacement for the viewing of the works of such photographers but rather as a meaningful supplement."

Fridenmaker, completing his first year at Grossmont College, received his B.F.A. and M.F.A. from Arizona State University where he also served as an instructor. A photographer of repute as well as an instructor, Fridenmaker has had his work published in Vision and Expression, Western Review, and Arizona Magazine.

He has exhibited his work at the George Eastman House. Rochester, New York, University of Iowa, Purdue University, Arizona State University, Yuma Fine Arts Association, Phoenix Art Museum and various national traveling shows.

Asiatic Art Display Set

Twenty paintings by Chang Dai-Chien will be on view at the Fine Arts Gallery of San Diego, Balboa Park, June 26 through August 8. The exhibition is sponsored by the Asiatic Arts Committee.

Recognized by critics and art authorities as the greatest contemporary Chinese artist, Chang Dai-Chien has always occupied a unique place in Chinese art. His art is rooted in the historic tradition of the brush. Mastery of calligraphy and pictorial brushwork enabled him to develop new and more powerful effects.

Three important exhibitions of his work have been held in Paris and recently in New York 1963, and Cologne, 1964. He has also shown in London and other cultural centers in the Western World.

Born in 1899, Chang Dai-Chien now resides officially in Brazil.

A reception honoring the artist, who will be present, will be held at 2 p.m., June 30, at the Gallery. The public is invited to attend.

Smoker Segregation Bill Becomes Law

SACRAMENTO — A measure by Senate President Pro Tempore James R. Mills (D-San Diego) to provide separate sections for non smokers on public conveyances was signed last week by Governor Reagan.

Mills, who is allergic to tobacco smoke, said the new law would require separate seating for non smokers on all airplanes, bus and train trips originating in California.

The bill would not affect Amtrak, the quasi-public rail passenger corporation, because it is under federal jurisdiction.

"This bill is a positive first step toward eliminating smoking as a health hazard in public places," Mills said.

Woody Allen Hit Set For Cassius Carter

The latest Broadway comedy hit written by Woody Allen will open at the Cassius Carter Centre Stage in Balboa Park Tuesday.

"Play It Again, Sam" will be staged for a limited summer run. Performances are scheduled for Tuesday through Sunday nights plus Saturday and Sunday matinees. The play is not recommended for children.

The Old Globe Theatre is presenting "Play It Again, Sam" to be directed by theatre producing director Craig Noel. The Cassius Carter Centre Stage is located adjacent to the Old Globe Theatre in Balboa Park.

Wayne Smith will head a professional acting company as an insecure young writer separated from his wife. Playwright-comedian Woody Allen played the leading role in the original Broadway production of "Play It Again, Sam."

Feeling responsible for the failure of his marriage, the young man retreats into a fantasy world of bravado and romantic conquest. In the real world, the film critic is shy, insecure and cowardly. His lack of confidence causes a variety of female companions to reject his romantic advances.

His all-time hero, Humphrey Bogart, is his symbol of male tough-guy authority. When Bogart appears to the troubled writer during frequen day dreams, Bogart offers advice and demonstrates his methods of attracting women. Through his fantasies, the film critic gains the confidence to overcome his inhibitions.

B. G. Fisher plays the important supporting role of Humphrey Bogart, appearing in fantasy sequences. Stephen C. Bradbury and Dawn Daniel are best friends of the shy film critic. Trina Ciuffo will be seen as Smith's estranged wife.

Also appearing in "Play It Again, Sam" are Kathe Argo, Miki Heller and Karen Winder. The contemporary New York apartment setting was designed by Peggy Kelner for the Carter Centre Stage.

Reduced price tickets for all enlisted military personnel are available for "Play It Again, Sam". Special price tickets of $2.50 may be purchased for all performances except Saturday nights.

Prize Winning Film Will Benefit 'Bridge'

The Bridge, a temporary home for runaways at 2525 A st., is sponsoring a benefit showing of "Warrendale."

Winner of the International Film Critics' Prize at the 1967 Cannes Film Festival, "Warrendale" is a remarkable and direct film study of emotionally disturbed children at their residential treatment center in Canada.

There will be two showings on June 23, at the Unicorn Cinema in La Jolla, at 7 and 9:30 p.m.

Dear Editor:

Today my child brought home an annual from Mt. Miguel High School and I was shocked and disgusted by the things I found in it. A year book should be something to be treasured proudly and shown to one's children in later years. I wonder if the Mt. Miguel students will be proud to show this to anyone in the future. I would be ashamed to show it now as a representation of my high school.

The filth that is written on walls is not what I call part of a high school annual. The students say it is part of today. I say nonsense. They were writing filth on the walls when I was in school and when my parents were in school but we didn't proudly display it to the world as representing our school.

If this display of bad taste were the only thing in the annual that showed a lack of judgment on the part of the staff and advisors it would be bad enough but it didn't stop there. The advertisement of drugs in the school shown by the "passing of a joint" is in extremely bad taste. So the picture is not actually a marijuana cigarette, the suggestion that it is is certainly there. Besides, isn't there a school rule against smoking on the school grounds?

Even though the staff announces the theme of the book to be "reaching out", the word that keeps popping up is apathy. Who are the apathetic ones? The students, yes. What are they doing about it? Well according to this year book I would say they are enjoying it.

Under one of the pictures it says "long hours of hard work and concentration are needed to complete yearbook pages, but those intent expressions don't show the hours of insanity that go with yearbook production." I don't think they need to worry, as the book itself seems to show the strain.

The final criticism I would like to bring forth was the terrible "put down" given to the sophomore class. Why were they treated so badly by the sophomore editor. I'm sure all sophomores are proud to have the "rumbling of their stomachs" pointed out, or their habit of "throwing their weight around" or the fact that sophomores "occasionally experienced an uncontrollable urge to do something dumb." Afraid of being seen by somebody older and wiser, the sophomores were capricious behind closed doors."

The worst part of the lapses in good taste shown in this yearbook is that they overshadow some very good things. The photography and the writing talent shown in this yearbook could have been very impressive.

It is a real shame the talent could not have been put to a better use like trying to erase some of the "apathy" instead of showing so much pride in the fact that this generation has no school spirit, no enthusiasm, and no desire to do anything about it.

Bike Licensing To Stem $¼ Million in Thefts

San Diego City Chief of Police Ray Hoobler has started a bicycle licensing program that is designed to combat the extreme increase of bicycle thefts.

Although the program is a project of the city, Lemon Grove and Spring Valley bike owners will also be protected.

Owners will be required to register their vehicles at any San Diego City Fire Station. The fee is $1 and the license is good for five years.

San Diego City residents riding unlicensed bikes are cautioned to be ready to receive traffic warnings from uniformed officers. County residents will not be ticketed. The warning orders owners to obtain a bike license within 15 days and a follow-up check will be made to determine whether the order has been obeyed. County residents are not required to register "but it's good, cheap insurance," Hoobler said.

Hoobler said the offort is for the protection of the owner. "It enables the department to locate the owner when the bike is recovered."

Hoobler reported that 5,248 valued at $227,336 were stolen in 1970. Only 2,108, or 40 per cent were recovered. In the first five months this year 2,628 bikes worth $115,561 have been stolen — a rate that would set a 12 month record if the rate continues, Hoobler said.

Police will return bikes to City owners. County owners will be notified and will pick up their recovered bikes.

S.V. Boy Jailed On Furnishing Drugs Charge

A 17-year-old Spring Valley boy was arrested last week on charges of furnishing restricted dangerous drugs to a minor.

According to reports from the Sheriff's Department, deputies were called to the residence of a 13-year-old girl in Spring Valley, whose parents said that she had admitted taking drugs, saying that the drugs were given her by the 17-year-old boy.

The girl told deputies that she woke up the morning of June 9 and took some of her mother's prescription tuinal capsules and fell asleep again.

When she reawoke, she went to a neighbor's house, where she met the suspect, who gave her a seconol capsule, which she took at that time. She went on to say that the two of them decided to go for a walk to "Hanson's Pond", where the suspect gave her another capsule, which she took.

She said that she became sick and fell into the pond twice and the suspect had to pull her out. The suspect was then contacted and taken to juvenile hall.

Three Arrested For Glue And Drug Charges

Three Lemon Grove men were arrested last Wednesday evening on charges of "sniffing glue" and being under the influence of drugs.

Stephen W. Clapham, 19, Bruce D. Abbott, 21, and Dennis M. Foote, 20, were arrested at 6 p.m. at a gasline station at Massachusetts and Broadway in Lemon Grove.

According to reports from the Sheriff's Department, Clapham and Abbott were seen picking up Foote on Broadway where the latter was hitchhiking. Foote was observed to have trouble maintaining his balance as he was picked up.

The suspect vehicle was then observed to pull into the gas station, and the suspects got out. Clapham and Abbott went into the restroom there. Foote remained with the vehile and was arrested for being under the influence of drugs.

As deputies contacted the other two suspects in the restroom, a strong odor of glue was depicted coming from the room and the suspects' persons. A bag with glue in the bottom was found in a trashcan in the restroom.

The equator crosses almost in the center of Kenya, Africa.

District Hires Eldon Meyer

sters in the development until the district can meet the needs of those students.

Paul Reynolds reported to the board on the College Crest development, to which the board has filed a letter of opposition. In that plan, developers had 17 acres of land annexed to the City of San Diego, and had hoped to build 199 units there.

Paul Reynolds reported to the board on the latest budget adjustments, noting reductions in expenditures and increases in revenue. Reynolds noted that the district is expected to receive more money from tax assessments and Public Law 874.

Reynolds said that the latest figures in the preliminary budget show an estimated 17 cents per $100 assessment increase in tax rates. He added that that figure was only a rough estimate and that the final figure could be several cents more or less.

A good portion of the meeting was spent in discussion of pay hikes and reclassification of certificated and classified employees.

The board approved cost of living increases and fringe benefits for all employees, with the exception of food service personnel.

Under the re-organization of the food services department, all cafeteria foods will be prepared at centralized locations and most of the cafeterias in the district will operate as "serving kitchens" only.

To reclassify personnel, trustees made three of the seven present cafeteria managers of the central operation, while the remaining four managers were reclassified as food service assistants.

The four reclassified managers will receive the same hourly rate of pay next year as they received this year.

Graduation Is Saturday For Over 900 Grossmont College Students

Grossmont College has selected a former instructor and two students to deliver commencement address at the college's Tenth Annual Commencement scheduled for 2 p.m., Saturday on the campus quad.

More than 900 students have completed required courses and will be candidates to either an Associate in Arts or Associate in Science degree. One hundred fifty-six of the candidates completed necessary requirements at the completion of the summer session last August with an additional two hundred sixty-nine qualifying at the end of the fall semester in January. The remainder completed their studies during the spring semester just completed.

Heading the list of commencement speakers will be Dr. Abel B. Sykes, Jr., former Grossmont College history instructor and department chairman who is currently president of Compton College. Dr. Sykes left Grossmont College in August 1968 to join Compton College as Dean of Instruction. Sykes was appointed president of Compton College in September 1969.

In October 1970, Dr. Sykes was one of two community college presidents in the United States named to visit Vietnam at the request of General Creighton W. Abrams. Selected by the American Association of Junior Colleges, the two community college presidents and John P. Mallon, director of the Program for Servicemen and Veterans for the AAJC, visited Vietnam to explore ways in which community colleges can better assist military personnel in educational planning.

A native of Kansas City, Kansas, Sykes received his Bachelor of Arts degree in history and education and his Masters degree in history and political science, from the University of Kansas City. He recently received his Doctorate in education from the University of California at Los Angeles.

Joining Sykes on the podium will be Diana Lee Knowlden and Robert T. Brown, both June graduates of Grossmont College. Miss Knowlden, who recently won a $250 award from the Bank of America Community College Awards Program, will receive an Associate in Arts degree. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Knowlden, 1575 Bartram way, El Cajon.

Brown, a student at Grossmont College under the U. S. Navy's Associate Degree Completion Program, will receive an Associate in Science degree with a major in technical illustration. Brown of Poway, served as president of the Associated Students of Grossmont College during the spring semester and was also winner of a $250 award in the Bank of America Community College Awards Program.

Look For 'DOT' On Auto Tires

officers continue to find some tires branded "unsafe for highway use", "not for highway use," or "for farm use" being used on passenger vehicles on highways.

New tires which meet U. S. Department of Transportation standards for passenger cars are branded "DOT" on both sidewalls. Sullivan advises buyers to look for the required marking in order to avoid unintentional purchase of tires which are manufactured for farm or racing use or which have been released for sale as substandard or defective units and intended for "off highway" use only.

Sullivan also said that CHP passenger vehicle inspection teams have been alerted to watch for tires on which the branding has been removed by buffing or other means.

Youth Center Is Explained

and Thursday from 3 p.m. to 10 p.m. and Saturdays from noon to 10 p.m. It is hoped that the program can be expanded to include more age groups.

Monetarily, the project is somewhat of a miracle, operating on $450 per month, which includes costs for rent of the building at 3146 School lane, salary for Underhill, costs for the telephone, insurance premiums.

During the summer hours will remain the same. Youngsters from any area are invited to the center during open hours.

Although the center has been operating for a month, items are still needed, including games, books, magazines, and transportation for field trips.

The center is still looking for a soda pop dispensing machine at a price it can afford, Underhill said, and it is hoped that eventually a snack vending machine will be available.

Contributions of money or materials can be made by contacting Underhill at the youth center, calling 461-5160 during open hours, or writing to P.O. Box 429, Lemon Grove.

Stamp Issue Aids Condors

on the West Coast from Mexico to Washington and as far east as the Sierras. They now exist only in California and are protected by strict Federal and State laws. Authorities say they will require sustained defense by an aroused public if they are not to become extinct.

Condors attain a wing-span of ten feet and rank as the largest land birds in North America.

The California species is unique and distinctly different from the more plentiful and larger condors of South America, which have wing spreads up to 14 feet.

All surviving California Condors now live in special sanctuaries established for them in the mountains south of Bakersfield and east of Santa Barbara.

Capable of soaring at great altitude without visible effort, these 25-pound birds often cruise a hundred miles or more in search of food.

Condors are harmless and non-predatory members of the vulture family. They eat only carrion. Their feet are anatomically so weak that they can lift nothing weighing more than a few ounces.

Box Office Opens

Irving Sudrow, Company manager for United States International University's "Starlight Musicals at the Zoo" announced that the box office, located at 1601 3rd ave. in the USIU Center for the Performing Arts building, is now open Monday through Saturday from 9:15 a.m. until 5:15 p.m.

Patrons are now able to purchase single show tickets or season tickets for the three musicals being offered this summer at Wegeforth Bowl in the San Diego Zoo, "The Sound of Music," "Oliver!", and "The King and I."

Fox terrier dogs were originally bred to rout out foxes in their burrows.

Local Pair Arrested In Descanso

A 33-year-old Spring Valley man and a 19-year old Lemon Grove woman were arrested last Wednesday night in Descanso on charges of being under the influence of dangerous drugs and possession of restricted dangerous drugs.

According to Sheriff's reports, the two were observed exiting their vehicle at a restaurant in Descanso. They were contacted as they staggered toward the building.

No odor of alcohol was noticed from the suspects' breath, but both had slow, slurred speech, deputies said. They were arrested for being under the influence of drugs and transported to the El Cajon Substation.

Upon arrival at the substation, the rear seat of the patrol vehicle was searched and several pills were found.

SACRAMENTO — Senator Clair W. Burgener who was named this week as vice president of the President's Committee on Mental Retardation watches Governor Reagan sign into law his Senate Bill 33.
Burgener said that his Senate Bill 33 is designed to improve the placement and testing process with regard to the educable mentally retarded.
Burgener went on to add that "this bill will directly benefit other children like Bonnie Cook. Bonnie is a shining example to all of us that when professional guidance and understanding is coupled with lots of love, the mentally retarded can be helped."

Senator Burgener Named Veep Of Mentally Retarded Group

Clair Burgener, 49, a California State Senator, has been named vice-chairman of the President's Committee on Mental Retardation.

Secretary E. L. Richardson is chairman of the committee.

Since July 1970, Burgener has been one of the 21 citizen members of the committee appointed by the President, and previously served it as a consultant. He succeeds Dr. Robert A. Aldrich, who remains a member but asked to be relieved as vice-chairman because of the press of his new duties as Vice President for Health Affairs of the U. of Colorado.

Burgener was first elected in 1963 to the California legislature, where he has been chairman of the Senate Committee on Social Welfare and currently is chairman of the Senate Select Committee on Exceptional Children. He authored the law creating mandatory special classes for trainable children in the public schools, which enables some 5,000 children to live at home instead of being placed in institutions. Another of his bills established a new testing procedure for placement in classes for the educable mentally retarded.

He has been active in voluntary organizations aiding retarded children for more than 15 years, including service as President of the San Diego Association for Retarded Children, President of the California Council for Retarded Children, and Vice President of the National Association for Retarded Children.

tion, volunteering his identification. His driver's license showed him to be under 18 and he was arrested for curfew violation.

Contact was made with Brunson, the driver of the vehicle, and, according to the Sheriff's reports, an odor of burned marijuana was depicted about him.

He was arrested for contributing to the delinquency of a minor, and a search revealed three marijuana cigarettes in one of his pockets in addition to various paraphernalia.

The two were taken to the Lemon Grove Office of the Sheriff's Department. After arrival at the Lemon Grove Office, the rear seat of the patrol car was searched, and three pills, believed to be restricted dangerous drugs, were found.

Aerospace Job Training 'Cruel Hoax' Says Van

WASHINGTON — Government training programs are proving a "cruel hoax" for thousands of laid-off areospace industry professionals, Rep. Lionel Van Deerlin, D-San Diego, charged Wednesday.

"Many of these men are being prepared for jobs that simply do not exist," he said in a speech prepared for delivery on the House floor.

A case in point, he said, is the Anaheim-based Pollution Management Institute (PMI), set up under a $180,000 Labor Department contract to retrain jobless engineers and technicians from San Diego and Orange counties as "environmental managers." The contract has been administered by the California Department of Human Resources Development.

Only 17 of the 97 trainees had actually found jobs when the 16-week course ended last week and of these, only "five or six" were hired for work directly related to curbing pollution, the San Diego lawmaker told the House. "The rest were left to wait and wonder, and try to skimp along on unemployment or welfare payments."

Of the mostly middle-aged trainees, half were chosen from San Diego County, the remainder in Orange County.

Van Deerlin said that when the course started, last Feb. 22, prospective trainees — who had been culled from an original list of about 200 applicants — were advised that not less than 256 positions in pollution control would be available to them upon graduation.

"Unfortunately, most of the jobs existed only on paper, in state and local governments throughout the country, and had not been funded at the time the assurances were so blithely given," he said.

Van Deerlin has inspected the PMI operation, in a rented store in an Anaheim shopping center, and talked with many of the students. Last week, he assisted a delegation from the institute in lining up meetings with Congressmen and other federal officials to discuss consultant services offered by the group.

He said the students had no complaints about the quality of their PMI training to become managers of air, water, noise and solid waste pollution. He also noted that the institute has a performance contract stipulating forfeiture of 20 percent of the contract value if at least 80 percent of the graduates are not placed in jobs within 90 days of completion of the course.

"If all the men are not placed, it certainly won't be for lack of effort by the institute, which stands to lose more than $30,000 if the 80 per cent goal is not achieved," Van Deerlin said. "The fault here is with short-sighted federal policies that raise and dash false hopes among the growing legions of unemployed.

"The emphasis of federal manpower programs most obviously should be redirected toward the creation of jobs — now in such critically short supply."

Winter Gets B.A. Degree

At the spring commencement held on May 27 at Concordia Teachers College, River Forest, Illinois, Ellis A. Winter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest R. Winter of 3896 Capitol st., Lemon Grove, was granted a B.A. in Education degree.

Ellis will teach at St. Paul's Lutheran School, Oak Lawn, Illinois, of The Lutheran Church—Missouri Synod, a member of the larget Protestant parochial school system in the United States.

Crippled Children Benefit Game Set

Dr. Paul Califano, president of the Kiwanis Club of Lemon Grove, announced that the annual Kiwanis Crippled Children Foundation baseball game between the Los Angeles Dodgers and the New York Mets, will be played at 3 p.m. on August 18 at the Dodger Stadium in Los Angeles.

This is a fund-raising operation, sponsored by The Kiwanis Crippled Children Foundation, and is supported by 250 Southern California Kiwanis Clubs, each of which will handle ticket sales in its own area. Also, each club retains a portion of its ticket sales for use in its own youth projects.

C. H. "Hap" Halligan of West Hollywood, game chairman, announced that the Kiwanis Crippled Children Foundation participates only in the proceeds from tickets sold through a Kiwanis Club.

Defensive Driving Is Class In La Mesa

A course in defensive driving, produced in cooperation with the San Diego Traffic Safety Council, will be taught at the La Mesa Adult Recreation Center, 8450 La Mesa blvd., La Mesa.

The first class will meet Wednesday. For further information, call 469-0626.

Local Group Circulates Petitions Against Rezone

The Broadway Heights Community Council, a group of citizen's concerned with services for residents in the western portion of Lemon Grove, has been securing signatures on a petition fighting a planned residential development in that area.

The council was formed last year, but just recently was recognized as a task force against a proposed rezone on property located west of 69th street, east of Laconia, south of San Miguel, and north of Mallard st.

The group has circulated petitions in hopes of obtaining R-1-10 zoning on the land, which would cause Security Engineering Corporation of Lakeside, who hope to develop the land, to put in lower density housing.

The company originally proposed to build 199 units in the 17-acre parcel, or a density of 11.3 units per acre. The land, originally zoned R-2, was annexed to the City of San Diego, and was immediately rezoned A-1-1.

At a hearing held June 1, the developers were asked to reduce the number of units. Under R-2 zone, the proposed 199 units would be alright, but under R-1-10, only about half as many units could be built.

Most of the area surrounding the parcel is unincorporated and is zoned R-2, but most of the nearby incorporated areas are zoned R-5 and R16. An R-6 zone would permit about 160 units on the parcel.

At a meeting of the Southeast San Diego Planning Committee, members of the Broadway Heights Council presented opposition to the rezone, presenting 863 signatures of residents in the area.

According to Verna Quinn, a member of the board of directors of the council, "R-2 zoning is totally incompatible with the surrounding neighborhoods, which are already developed in single dwellings on average to large size lots."

The Lemon Grove School District is also opposed to the rezone, which could mean an increase in enrollment of up to 200 students.
